Credit Card Privacy & Security Policy

At Henderson Auctions, we are committed to protecting the privacy and security of our customers' personal and financial information.

Collection of Payment Information

When you make a payment using a credit or debit card, we collect only the information necessary to process the transaction, including:

- Cardholder name
- Billing address
- Credit or debit card number
- Expiration date
- Card security code (CVV)
- Transaction amount

This information is collected solely for payment processing and fraud prevention purposes.

Secure Processing

All credit card transactions are processed through secure, encrypted payment gateways that utilize industry-standard security protocols. Sensitive payment information is transmitted using Secure Socket Layer (SSL) technology and other appropriate safeguards designed to protect your information from unauthorized access.

Storage of Credit Card Information

Henderson Auctions does not sell, rent, or share credit card information with third parties for marketing purposes.

Credit card information is not stored by Henderson Auctions except as necessary to complete authorized transactions, comply with legal obligations, resolve disputes, or enforce our agreements. Any stored payment information is maintained in accordance with applicable payment card industry (PCI) security standards.

Third-Party Payment Providers

Payments may be processed by trusted third-party payment processors. These providers maintain their own privacy and security policies and are responsible for safeguarding payment information in accordance with applicable laws and industry standards.

Use of Information

Payment information may be used to:

- Process payments and refunds

- Verify customer identity
- Prevent fraud and unauthorized transactions
- Comply with legal and regulatory requirements
- Maintain business records

Protection of Personal Information

We implement reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to protect personal and financial information against unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, or destruction.

Disclosure of Information

We may disclose payment information only when:

- Required by law, court order, or governmental authority
- Necessary to process transactions through financial institutions or payment processors
- Needed to protect the rights, property, or safety of Henderson Auctions, our customers, or others

Changes to This Policy

Henderson Auctions reserves the right to update or modify this Credit Card Privacy & Security Policy at any time. Any changes will be posted on this page with an updated effective date.
